

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

New-York Legislature.

Committee on Correspondence—Contested Seats—Mr. Cornell—Walsh's Motion—Speech—Report on Volunteers—The Ladies' Bill.

ALBANY, Jan. 9, 1847.—Saturday.

The Standing Committee for 1847, in Assembly, are not yet named; but the Speaker has recently appointed Messrs. Walsh, Bliss, Buttrick, T. Smith and Devlin, a Committee on Mr. WALSH's resolution on the hours of labor, &c., and Messrs. Gould, Rathbone, Balcom, Perkins and Davis, a Committee on Mr. GOULD's resolution on Capital Punishment. Also Messrs. T. Smith, Upham, Woodruff, Watson and Raplee, the Standing Committee (as I understand) on Privileges and Elections.

Heretofore it has been the usage to pass a bill or bills at the close of each session, covering the contingencies of both Houses, and the pay of members and officers, the money having been paid out of resolutions. Now, however, the Controller requires the authority of a law, and the House have proceeded with a bill, introduced by Mr. BURSTILL, as far as the third reading, saving to the State $20,000 by the way out of the Senate Clerk's extra allowance.

Mrs. MATTY is that is, having fallen in love with the now more euphonious cognomen of STARKIE, prays to be created Mrs. STARKIE in all time to come, by statute. Indite her when.

There has been a recent election petition offered by Mr. Isaac L. HARRIS, of Ulster's claim to Mr. MONTAIGNE's seat.

"I do not think that I shall repeat my resolution," said HORACE WALPOLE to GEORGE MONTAGUE, (not to reenter the House of Commons after he had sat 27 years in it!) "for what could I see but sons and grandsons playing over the same benches that I have seen their fathers and grandfathers sit in." Although we may naturally prefer the continuance of a nobler epoch, between 1841 and 1842.

The present Assembly promises well. Yesterday and to day Mr. CONWELL of Cayuga presided as Speaker, protein, with great efficiency and ability. Courteous, yet prompt and decisive, and possessing a great apparent familiarity with the rules of the Legislature, his conduct in the Chair seemed to give universal satisfaction.

On going into Committee of the Whole, in Assembly, on the Volunteers' Oath bill, this forenoon, Mr. WALSH of N. Y. delivered his maiden speech. The Senate met, but had no opportunity for a display of oratory, nor do I think that Mr. W. cares for such exhibitions. He spoke fluently, deliberately, rending—his language was chaste, and his manner with fault. If his "facts for the people" and the excellent way he has of telling them, do not receive a beneficial effect, it is hard to say, on behalf of the millions who sit, but do not receive a fair compensation from society. I shall be very much mistaken if the Governor Marcy, the Custom House sinecures, and the jobbing system by which of volunteers into a source of plunder.

I send you the Report of Messrs. Small, Walsh and others, on the bill to grant $10,000 for a gratuity to the First Regiment of New-York Volunteers. Mr. BURSTILL objected to a third reading, to-day, because the bill was amended, so as to obviate the objection of the General Government. He and the speaker withdrew at 1 P.M. he withdrew his objection, and then Mr. WALSH objected.

Mr. PERKIN introduced his bill to secure married women's rights to property, and Mr. PERKIN announced a bill to amend the Militia Law of 1846.

In SENATE, Mr. HALL's resolution on SLAVERY was referred to the Committee of the Whole—and there was no discussion, but no action on his Resolution requiring Congress to reimburse the State for advances toward Volunteer outfit.

It is not most unaccountable, that any civilized Government could permit its functionaries to be so negligent of the comforts of men volunteering to leave their homes, with a pitiful sense of reverence, to fight in battles in a distant land, in the heat of battle, and to be given only a bare subsistence, and meager entertainment, and greatly enlarge their misery.

Very recently, your obedient servant,
